Bronx Honors Fr. Duffyin Big

25,000 Persons of All De-

diers and civilians-will march along the Grand Concourse from 161st Street to Kingsbridge Road. Hundreds of thousands more will line the bouleand set the flags which decorate t a-flutter with their cheers.

It will be more than a parish welome home, although the Church of Our Savior, at 183rd Street and Wash ngton Avenue, of which the Rev. Francis P. Duffy was rector before he became chaplain of the 69th Regiment, or went to France with it as the 165th Infantry, will take a leading part in it.

More Than Church Fete

It will be more than a church celebration, although Archbishop Hayes is to be in the reviewing stand, and Fordham University, a Jesuit institution, has thrown wide its doors for the reception and dinner which are to follow the parade, and scores of Catholic societies are to march. It will be more than a welcome extended by the fellowship of religion, although clergymen of all denominations of the Christian church in the Bronx, representatives of the Y. M. C. A., and members of the Young Men's Hebrew Association and other Jewish organizations are to march.

The Bronx will turn out to-day to do honor to its beloved Father Duffy.
Twenty-five thousand persons — men, women and children, Jews and Gentiles, Catholics and Protestants, soldiers and civilians—will march along

Reception Follows

After the parade, starting at 3 p. m., which Father Duffy himself will review, there will be a reception at Fordham University, which has offered its facilities for the first time for a found university, which has offered its facilities for the first time for a found university, will be followed by a dinner in the hall of the university. District Attorney Francis Martin will be toastmaster. The Right Rev. Monsignor Edward Murray, 76 years old, is coming from Coburg, Ont., to attend it and speak of the boy, Frank Duffy.

Other speakers will be ex-Governor Martin H. Glynn, Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Dowling, the Rev. William H. Kephart, pastor of the North New York Congregational Church, and Rabbi David Klein. Dr. Francis P. Tivnan, president of Fordham University, will deliver the invocation.

Monday evening Father Duffy is to taik to his neighbors about the war. For this purpose the use of Fox's Croton Theatre, on Tremont Avenue, has been given. It will seat only 2,200, a fact which is causing some anxiety in the Tremont section.

Three Other Institutions for Wounded Here To Be Abandoned

Debarkation Hospital 5-the Grand Central Palace-will be abandoned by the government on September 1, according to an announcement issued yes-terday by the Surgeon General's office in Washington. The proposed closing of three other army hospitals in the New York district also was made public.

One June 1 General Hospital 9, at Lakewood, will be abandoned. General Hospital 39, at Long Beach, is being cleared of equipment and patients and will be closed almost at once, and General Hospital 37, at Madison Barracks, is also to be discontinued.

Auxiliary Hospital 1, at the Rockefeller Institute, has already been closed and army facilities at the Polyclinic Hospital have been turned over to the Public Health Service for the care of beneficiaries under the war risk act.

Three Exquisite Pictures for you tomorrow Mother's Day-Sunday, May 11

THREE of the four full-page colored pictures in to-morrow's Sunday Tribune Colorgraphic are devoted to Mothers.

In beauty of color, in fidelity of reproduction and in charm of subject no such art supplement was ever issued by a newspaper.

In "The Kiss," J. Campbell Phillips' painting of a mother and child, all the delicate flesh tints, all the richness and depth of the darker tones, have been caught and held by the entirely new process of the Colorgraphic.

In vivid contrast is "The First Lesson," by Emil Fuchs, occupying another of the four full pages --- a reproduction of a bronze group by this distinguished painter of portraits.

And, bringing Mother's Day right here to our own New York, is "Sun and Wind on the Roof," by John Sloan --- a regular New York mother hanging out the family washing, with the housetops and skyline of Manhattan in the distance.

Extraordinary Feature!

The fourth of the Colorgraphic's full pages to-morrow is filled with Capt. Harvey Dunn's smashing painting of another interpretation of "The Lesson" --- one that a Yank is teaching the Blond Beast.

A ruined home in France --- a wreck of furniture and clothing --- a Hun face down and above him a Yank with feet planted wide apart --- his rifle blazing through the doorway.

Never were therefour such wonderful reproductions of four such magnificent paintings offered to a newspaper's readers as a regular part of their Sunday paper. The Tribune Colorgraphic, recognized everywhere as the greatest of newspaper features, is attracting thousands of new readers every week. People are decorating their homes by framing these pictures. Dealers in picture frames are advertising the Colorgraphic with their own Get and keep these pictures from week to week. Start on Sunday --- Mother's Day!
